Your coverage in action

It's important to understand your policy, so you know how it applies to your business. SECURA's basic coverage, while robust, may require some additional, optional coverage. In the insurance industry, we call these endorsements. In your line of work, think of them as peace of mind.

Take this quiz to see how our basic coverage applies to the risks you face every day.

Question 1

Your employee was welding a stainless steel pipe at a milking equipment installation job. Your employee failed to follow basic safety precautions related to "Hot Work." A piece of hot metal fell onto combustible feed in the area starting a fire that caused $250,000 in damage to the barn. Would you have liability defense costs in your basic Agribusiness General Liability policy?

A) Yes. Costs would be covered.

B) Maybe. If found not liable.

C) No. These costs are not covered.

D) None of the above.

Correct answer: A

Liability defense costs are covered in your basic Agribusiness General Liability policy.

Question 2

While installing plumbing in a new milking parlor, an employee makes a mistake and the stainless steel piping is installed incorrectly. Correcting the mistake is costly. Is this situation covered by your basic policy?

A) Yes. Costs would be covered.

B) No. No policy would cover this.

C) No. An endorsement is needed to the policy.

D) None of the above.

Correct answer: C

Basic coverage doesn't include mistakes in installation, but most experienced, independent agents will recommend a Contractor Errors and Omissions Liability Endorsement.

Question 3

During a construction project at a dairy operation, your employee accidentally spilled a chemical into the milk bulk tank. The milk had to be thrown out. What part of the policy would trigger coverage?

A) Commercial General Liability.

B) Crime and Fidelity.

C) Property.

D) Limited Pollution Endorsement.

Correct answer: D

Contractors often work with pollutants. The limited pollution option to the policy adds coverage for "sudden and accidental" chemical spills.
